Costs*:

 Most often the costs of analysis are calculated per one sample/plate. However, due to non-standard analyzes, the variety of research carried out and the variable number of analyzed samples within a given project, cost estimates are prepared individually.
In order to calculate the costs, please contact CoreLab staff.*

Result publishing policy:

*In case of analysis performed in CoreLab, please include appropriate information in the text of your publication, for example: "The studies were carried out in the Central Scientific Laboratory of the Medical University of Lodz".
The active participation of the CoreLab staff in the research project, e.g. solving research questions beyond the standard protocols, contributions towards experimental design, development of new protocols, writing of manuscripts and/or the interpretation of data, qualify for co-authorship.
Please provide us with a copy of published papers, reports, reprints from the data obtained in CoreLab.*
